Dear Board Members,

As a member of my school's environmental club, I'd like to severely urge you to reconsider some of your plans for the Texas Water Code. Many of my fellow students, along with myself and my family, are concerned about the wasteful manner in which water is to be distributed, according to the most recent plans.

I truly believe that as members of the Texas Water Development Board, you hold a great responsibility. Our natural resources are being consumed at an alarming rate, and what does the Texas Water Code propose to do? Create more reservoirs! We must focus on preserving our water resources, on protecting ourselves from the effects of drought, and on preparing ourselves for the future. The way things are going now, we are bound to actually run out of water supply!

I beg you to please consider what I've attempted to communicate to you. We must think of the future of Texas when creating this Water Code. Thank you for considering my concerns.

Sincerely,
Natalie Baker
