I would like to voice my opinions on the Draft 2007 State Water Plan. I am an officer in my school's Environmental Club and soon to be a voter.

It was a letdown to see so many new reservoirs added to the list. How long will the water last if we keep adding new sources to tap into it? I honestly think conserving better the water we have will save us money & resources in the future.

While new reservoirs will provide short-term construction jobs, etc. it won't last long; & the damaging effects of these new reservoirs will outweigh the benefits a few years down the road.

We've already seen rapid depletion of water sources & instead of sucking up the rest of it we should all just work to conserve what we have.

Thank you for considering my thoughts on the issue & I hope you'll make the most environmentally conscious choice.

Sincerely,
Marty
